Matching Designers to Lifestyles and Body Types

Ever had a client that you were really excited about and didn't quite know where to start? So many shopping options, where do you begin?

Imagine working with a pregnant young woman or a menopausal older client, the options can be overwhelming.

This presentation will help you to solve your client's challenges and best match her current lifestyle. We will also review vendors that work for various body types in this session.

This is a condensed version of the program that Sarah delivered at the 2009 AICI Annual Convention in Irvine, California.
